Creative Art Central 2023-2024

Fact Sheet

About the program

Central Coast Council has made the Creative Art Central program for artists.

It is a program that matches the plan for Central Coast arts and artists for the years 2020–2025.

In the program, artists can apply for money to create new art that the community will like and can be part of.

Create is to make something new from an idea.

The art could be a picture, a sculpture, or a movie. Or it could be a piece of music, a performance, or some writing.

The Creative Art Central program will give a commission to artists who have the best idea.

A commission is money paid to someone to create a piece of art.

An established or emerging artist can be paid up to $40,000 per idea. You can only register 1 idea.

An established artist is someone whose paid job is creating art, and who has been creating art for 5 years or more.

An emerging artist is someone who has been creating art for less than 5 years and does not do it for their only paid job yet.

Central Coast Council wants to make the commissions available for all the different creative people in our community.

Council wants people with different ages, abilities, genders and sexualities to apply for the commissions.

Council also wants people from different countries and cultures to apply for the commissions.

Getting the community interested

This program is a way for the community to join in creating art.

This year we are looking for artists who can work with the community.

Working with the community could include:

- the artist talking about their art to people
- the artist showing their work to people while they are creating it
- the artist letting people join in a workshop.
- the artist talking to people to who would like to help create the new artwork

A workshop is a group lesson where you teach about your art and skills.

If it will cost the artist any money to do these things, they can talk about it with a Council representative.
